

More than 100 years of manufacturing porcelain in Temuka South Canterbury.

New Zealand made NZI porcelain is a great “total value proposition” for the sourcing of quality insulators and providing a sustainable environmental solution. We manage the total lifecycle of our insulators which can’t be replicated by any other insulator supplier in New Zealand.

Environmental sustainability is about making responsible decisions that will reduce any negative impact on the environment.

NZI have been recycling for more than 100 years (so its not new to the NZI team) over the last 12 months we have recycled over 700 tonnes of porcelain (that’s a lot of land fill that NZI has saved).

So, what are you doing with your used porcelain insulators?

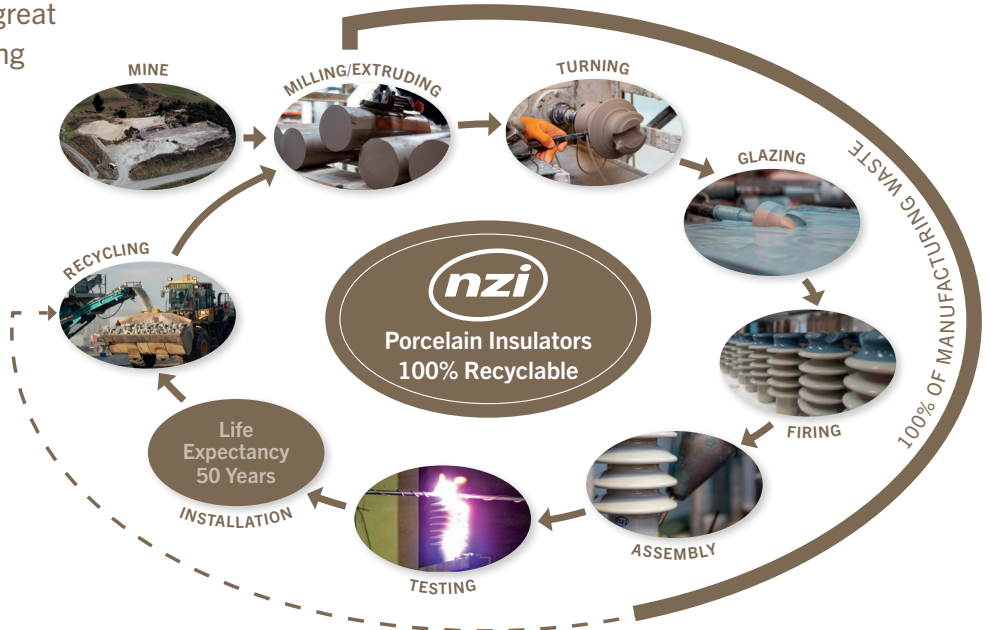

NZI is Australasia’s only manufacturer of porcelain insulators and we are essentially the “last man standing”. Our continued growth over our 100 years is reflected by our honest, accountable, environmentally sustainable decisions to support our 100-year NZ owned and operated manufacturing facility, recycling porcelain is in our 100-year DNA.

At NZI, we take Extended Producer Responsibility seriously with all of the porcelain insulators produced. Our EPR approach carries significant responsibility for the treatment and recycling of any end of use NZI porcelain insulators.

NZI provides incentives to prevent waste when insulators reach end-of-life, we promote product design to support the environment and support all recycling and materials management goals to make all producers accountable when their products reach end-of-life.

And of course, every NZI insulator is tested mechanically or electrically and all NZI branded insulators are protected by our real 25-year warranty.

To find out more on how NZI can recycle your old end-of-life insulators and improve your network reliability then contact us.

To celebrate our centenary as New Zealand Insulators we held a weekend of special events. It was fantastic to be able to acknowledge this milestone with our community.
